INTRODUCTION

Before the Court is Defendants Cooper Sands Realty, LLC, Robert Colucci, and Dario Deluca's Motion to Dismiss (ECF No. 4). Plaintiffs Copper Sands Homeowners Association, Inc., et al filed a Response on April 26, 2010 (ECF No. 10). Defendants filed a Reply on May 3, 2010 (ECF No. 20).

Having considered the pleadings and arguments the Court hereby GRANTS Defendants' Motion to Dismiss (ECF No. 4).

FACTS AND BACKGROUND

This action is based on alleged misconduct in the conversion, sale and financing of a condominium project. Plaintiffs are unit owners of the condominium project, and their homeowner's association. The developer of the condominiums was Defendant Copper Sands Realty, LLC, which was managed by Defendants Robert Colucci and Dario Deluca. The Second Amended Complaint names 31 defendants in total who were involved in some aspect of the conversion of the property including, the sale and financing of the condominiums, the appraisal or management of the property.

This case was originally brought in the Eighth Judicial District Court, Clark

1 County, Nevada. While in state court Plaintiffs amended their complaint twice.
2 Plaintiffs filed their Second Amended Complaint (SAC) on March 10, 2010 alleging 3 various civil RICO violations. Subsequent to filing the SAC the case was removed to the 4 United States District Court, District of Nevada. (ECF No. 1). Defendants filed the 5 instant motion to dismiss Plaintiffs' various civil RICO claims because Plaintiffs' claims 6 are not plead with particularity.

7 DISCUSSION

8 A. Rule 12(b)(6)

9 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) mandates that a court dismiss a cause of 10 action that fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. See N. Star Int'l v. Ariz.
11 Corp. Comm'n, 720 F.2d 578, 581 (9th Cir. 1983). When considering a motion to 12 dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6) for failure to state a claim, dismissal is appropriate only 13 when the complaint does not give the defendant fair notice of a legally cognizable claim
14 and the grounds on which it rests. See Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555
15 (2007). In considering whether the complaint is sufficient to state a claim, a court takes 16 all material allegations as true and construes them in the light most favorable to the 17 plaintiff. See NL Indus., Inc. v. Kaplan, 792 F.2d 896, 898 (9th Cir. 1986). The court, 18 however, is not required to accept as true allegations that which are merely conclusory, 19 unwarranted deductions of fact or unreasonable inferences. See Sprewell v. Golden State
20 Warriors, 266 F.3d 979, 988 (9th Cir. 2001). A formulaic recitation of a cause of action
21 with conclusory allegations is not sufficient; a plaintiff must plead facts showing that a 22 violation is plausible, not just possible. Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 129 S. Ct. 1937, 1949 (2009)
23 (citing Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555).

24 "Generally, a district court may not consider any material beyond the pleadings in 25 ruling on a Rule 12(b)(6) motion . . . . However, material which is properly submitted as

1 part of the complaint may be considered on a motion to dismiss.” Hal Roach Studios, Inc.
 2 v. Richard Feiner & Co., 896 F.2d 1542, 1555 n.19 (9th Cir. 1990) (citations omitted).
 3 Similarly, “documents whose contents are alleged in a complaint and whose authenticity 4 no party questions, but which are not physically attached to the pleading, may be 5 considered in ruling on a Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss” without converting the motion
 6 to dismiss into a motion for summary judgment. Branch v. Tunnell, 14 F.3d 449, 454 (9th 7 Cir. 1994). Under Federal Rule of Evidence 201, a court may take judicial notice of 8 “matters of public record.” Mack v. S. Bay Beer Distrib., 798 F.2d 1279, 1282 (9th Cir.
 9 1986). Otherwise, if the district court considers materials outside of the pleadings, the 10 motion to dismiss is converted into a motion for summary judgment. See Arpin v. Santa 11 Clara Valley Transp. Agency, 261 F.3d 912, 925 (9th Cir. 2001).

12 In Nevada, a civil RICO action must be plead with the same degree of specificity 13 that is called for in a criminal indictment or information. Hale v. Burkhardt, 764 P.2d 14 866, 869 (Nev. 1988); See also, Josephson v. EMC Mortg. Corp., No. 2:10-CV-336 2010, 15 WL 4810715, *3 (D.Nev. Nov 19, 2010) (“A claim for civil racketeering must be plead
 16 with specificity.”); Vo v. American Brokers Conduit, No. 3:09-CV-006542010, WL
 17 4449235, *2 (D.Nev. Oct 29, 2010) (same); Eastwood v. Lehman Bros. Bank, FSB, No.
 18 3:09-CV-00656, 2010 WL 2696479, *2 (D.Nev. Jul 02, 2010) (same). “A civil RICO 19 pleading must, in that portion of the pleading which describes the criminal acts that the 20 defendant is charged to have committed, contain a sufficiently ‘plain, concise and 21 definite’ statement of the essential facts such that it would provide a person of ordinary 22 understanding with notice of the charges.” Hale, 764 P.2d at 869–70. This means the 23 complaint should provide the information as to “when, where [and] how” the underlying 24 criminal acts occurred. Id. at 869.

1      B.      Analysis

2      Plaintiffs' eighteenth claim for relief alleges violations of civil RICO statute
3      N.R.S. 207.400(1)(c). Under N.R.S. 207.400(1)(c) it is unlawful for a person employed 4      by or associated with any enterprise to conduct or participate in racketeering activity 5      through affairs of the enterprise. "Racketeering activity" is defined as "engaging in at 6      least two crimes related to racketeering that have the same or similar pattern, intents, 7      results, accomplices, victims or methods of commission, or are otherwise interrelated by 8      distinguishing characteristics and are not isolated incidents." N.R.S. 207.390. A "[c]rime 9      related to racketeering" is the commission of, attempt to commit or conspiracy to 10     commit" various crimes. N.R.S. 207.360. These crimes include, among others, obtaining 11     money or property valued at $250 or more, or obtaining a signature by means of false
12     pretenses. N.R.S. 270.360(26).

13     Plaintiffs allege two predicate criminal acts in their eighteenth claim: (1) obtaining 14     money, property, rent or labor by false pretenses (N.R.S. 205.380) and (2) obtaining 15     signature by false pretenses (N.R.S. 205.390). To violate N.R.S. 205.380 a person must 16     knowingly and designedly by any false pretense obtain from any other person any chose 17     in action, money, goods, effects or other valuable thing, including rent or the labor of 18     another person not his or her employee, with the intent to cheat or defraud the other 19     person. To violate N.R.S. 205.390 a person must obtain the signature of any person to a 20     written instrument with the intent to cheat or defraud another, designedly by color or aid 21     of any false token or writing or other false pretense.

22     Defendants argue that Plaintiffs have failed to plead their civil RICO claims with 23     particularity because they did not allege where the predicate criminal acts occurred or 24     how they occurred, and the predicate criminal acts do not allege the required intent.
25     Defendants argue that Plaintiffs claims also fail because the SAC does not identify any

1 particular individual but instead alleges that a series of defendants committed the 2 predicate crimes. However, Defendants cite to no authority that says that a series of 3 defendants cannot commit the predicate crimes.

4 Plaintiffs go to great lengths to plead specific facts throughout the fifty-six page 5 SAC. Plaintiffs also incorporate specific paragraphs from the SAC into the causes of 6 action alleging RICO violations as opposed to everything from the complaint. However, 7 as this Court held in WMCV Phase 3, LLC v. Shushok & McCoy, Inc., “[b]ecause civil 8 RICO claims are deemed to be ‘quasi-criminal’ in nature, mere incorporation by 9 reference is not enough.” No. 2:10-CV-00661, 2010 WL 3942798 (D.Nev. Oct. 5, 10 2010)(citing Hale, 764 P.2d 869–70). This does not mean that one cannot incorporate 11 allegations made in one count by reference in another count but it does mean that one 12 cannot incorporate allegations from the general facts and allegations section into a count.
13 See N.R.S. 173.075. Thus Plaintiff has failed to fulfill this pleading requirement.

14 Further Plaintiffs also failed in their attempt to allege the predicate crimes of 15 N.R.S. 205.380 and 205.390 with specificity because they did not allege the necessary 16 intent to cheat or defraud necessary for both crimes. Plaintiffs do include when the 17 predicate crimes occurred but not where they occurred.

18 However, Defendants’ argument that Plaintiffs’ claim fails because it identifies a 19 series of Defendants instead of each Defendant individually is unavailing. Plaintiffs cite 20 to every defendant within each claim to put those defendants on notice with what 21 Plaintiffs are charging. Under Nevada’s criminal pleading requirements this is sufficient.
22 For example, if Plaintiff alleges that Defendants made a specific misrepresentation to a 23 specific person at a specific time and place then each Defendant is put on notice that they 24 need to defend against that misrepresentation. See Sheriff, Clark County v. Levinson, 596
25 P.2d 232, 234 (Nev. 1979)(The court is not concerned with whether the information

1 could have been more artfully drafted, but only whether as a practical matter the 2 information provides adequate notice to the accused as required by N.R.S. 173.075.)

3 Plaintiffs' nineteenth, twentieth and twenty-first claims fail for the same reasons
4 discussed above. However, because the general allegations contained in the Complaint
5 may well be sufficient to support a plausible RICO claims were they to be alleged 6 directly under the RICO claims, the Court dismisses the RICO claims with leave to 7 amend within thirty days of this order.

8 CONCLUSION

9 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Defendants Cooper Sands Realty, LLC, Robert 10 Colucci, and Dario Deluca's Motion to Dismiss (ECF No. 4) is GRANTED.

11 Plaintiffs' eighteen, nineteenth, twentieth, and twenty-first causes of action are 12 DISMISSED without prejudice. Plaintiffs are granted leave to amend these claims 13 within thirty (30) days of the date of this Order.

14 DATED this 31st day of March, 2011.
